KINGDOM BUILDERS LANE REPORT

Vision Gap
$0.00

Vision: $55,000
Received: $72,794
Progress: 100% Funded

Lane Overview

The Next Gen lane is about investing in the future of the Church by developing the next generation of disciples, leaders, and world changers at Victory City Church. We believe the next generation is not the church of tomorrow — they are a vital part of the church today.

Through Kingdom Builders, we create environments where kids and students can encounter Jesus, build strong foundations in their faith, and discover the purpose God has placed on their lives. This includes ministries and initiatives like Young Saints, VBS, future leadership development opportunities, and the vision for a future Creative Arts School.

While this lane may require a smaller financial investment, its impact reaches far beyond today. Every investment into the next generation helps raise up future leaders, strengthen families, and build a legacy of faith that will influence generations to come. Fully funded, with $17,794 received above our $55,000 goal.

More Than a Week of Camp

For one week in July, Victory City was filled with the sound of kids worshiping, laughing, building friendships, and learning about Jesus. But what happened during those five days was about so much more than summer camp.

Camp gave us an incredible opportunity to reach families beyond those already connected to Victory City. More than half of the kids who attended this year were brand new to our church. That means 176 children—and the families connected to them—experienced Victory City in a meaningful way, many for the very first time.

And they didn't just come once. Kids kept coming back. Eight out of ten campers attended at least three days, giving our leaders and volunteers the opportunity to build relationships, create belonging, and reinforce the truth of who Jesus is throughout the week. More than 80 volunteers gave their time to make that possible, from youth counselors serving the next generation just behind them to adult leaders creating safe, excellent environments where kids could encounter God.

The Impact Continued After Camp

Our team followed up with new families, inviting them to continue taking steps toward Jesus through Victory City. In the weeks that followed, our Kids environments were noticeably fuller. From August through mid-September, Sunday attendance increased 18% over the same period last year, including our largest Kids Sunday outside of Easter and Mother's Day.

That's what Kingdom Builders generosity makes possible. It creates more than events—it creates opportunities for people to encounter Jesus and find a church home. Because of the generosity of Kingdom Builders, we were able to open our doors to hundreds of kids, invest deeply in the next generation, and build relationships with families we may never have reached otherwise. And the fruit of that investment is still growing.

When Kids Say Yes, Families Follow

The stories behind the numbers

Camp may have been designed for kids, but the impact didn't stay with the kids.

For Bash and Isaiah, what began as a week at camp became a personal decision to follow Jesus and take their next step through water baptism. But neither of their stories ended with their own decision. As these two boys took steps of faith, something began happening in their homes too.

Bash's Story

After camp, Bash decided he wanted to be baptized. As his family prepared to celebrate that moment with him, his dad made a decision of his own—to take that same step of faith. Father and son were baptized together, turning Bash's decision into a moment their family will always share.

Isaiah's Story

Isaiah also left camp ready to take his next step through baptism. His decision opened the door for a bigger conversation at home. Soon, his dad and sister decided to be baptized too, and his mom chose to publicly rededicate her life to Jesus through baptism. As each member of the family stepped into the water, Isaiah's oldest brother, Elijah, was right there in the baptism tub supporting them.

What began with two kids saying yes to Jesus became something that touched two entire families.

Two kids took a step of faith. Six people were baptized. Two families experienced the ripple effect.

This is why investing in the next generation matters. When we create opportunities for kids to encounter Jesus and respond to Him, we never know how far that impact will reach. Sometimes a child's yes becomes the beginning of a much bigger story—one that makes its way from camp, to the baptism waters, and all the way home.

Youth Ministry

Young Saints Conference July 29-31, 2026

Attended: 570 students

Salvations: 100+

Baptisms:24

Youth Attendance: +15% increase after conf.

Vision Cost: $35,000

Fully Funded

This year, we set out in faith to give every student in our city a conference experience with zero barriers to entry, fully funded, so cost would never be the reason a student stayed home.

That faith reached further than our own room. Students came from all across the Austin area, and hundreds of them had never regularly attended church before this year. For many, YSC 2026 was their very first encounter with a church family.

Tribe Wars

We got to use the Hendrickson High School football field for two whole nights of students competing, laughing, praying together, and building friendships side by side. Our 28 teams of students took up the entire field, from end zone to end zone.

Worship

Night after night, the response in the room was undeniable. Students were on their feet, fully engaged in worship and encountering God together. What began as a room full of students quickly became a powerful picture of a generation hungry for the presence of God.

These moments gave students space to quiet the noise around them, turn their attention toward Jesus, and respond personally to what God was doing in their hearts. They worshiped together, prayed for one another, and experienced what it means to pursue God alongside a community of friends and leaders.

Landon Collins

Landon first came to youth because his friend Max Carter invited him. He gave his life to Jesus at last year's conference, and this year, he started showing up consistently in the months leading into YSC 2026.

Landon was intentional about inviting his own friends to youth, and eventually to conference. This summer at YSC, he felt God calling him to go public with his faith and get baptized.

He signed up to be baptized, and by the end of the night, his brother and several of his friends had decided to get baptized right alongside him.

Landon's story is a picture of what your giving made possible: a student who said yes to an invitation, grew consistent in his faith, and then led his own brother and friends to do the same.

Kingdom Impact

NEXT GENERATION

The Next Generation lane exists to do more than create great programs or memorable events; it exists to help young people build a lasting relationship with Jesus and become lifelong disciples.

Across every ministry environment, children and students are discovering that the local church is a place where they belong, where they are known, and where they can grow in their faith. As they take steps toward Jesus, they are also developing the character, confidence, and spiritual foundation needed to influence their families, schools, and communities.

What begins with a child attending church for the first time or a student accepting an invitation often becomes something much greater—a future volunteer, leader, pastor, missionary, or Kingdom Builder. Every investment made today is helping shape the spiritual legacy of tomorrow.

The seeds being planted today will continue producing fruit for generations as children and students grow into disciples, leaders, and difference-makers who carry the Gospel into every area of life. Through Kingdom Builders, Victory City Church is helping raise a generation that knows God, loves His Church, and is equipped to impact the world for Christ.

Kingdom Builders investments help eliminate barriers to growth, enhance ministry environments, and position the church to respond as God continues to bring new individuals and families into our community.

Through facility improvements, strategic capital investments, and future expansion planning, we are establishing a foundation that enables sustainable ministry growth. These investments support everything from weekend experiences and volunteer engagement to outreach initiatives and future ministry programs that help people encounter Jesus and take their next steps.

Every improvement, expansion project, and ministry experience represents more than just a building or program; it represents people. Local Outreach

LOCAL MISSION SPOTLIGHT

Bartlett Innovation Unit (God Behind Bars)
Bringing Church Inside the Walls

On October 24, Victory City Church will bring a live church service inside the Bartlett Innovation Unit.

Through our partnership with God Behind Bars, we have already had the privilege of serving and building relationships with the incarcerated men at Bartlett. Now, that partnership is taking another significant step. Rather than simply watching a recorded service, these men will have the opportunity to experience a Victory City service live, right where they are.

Our team will enter the facility and host a complete service with live worship, prayer, a message, baptisms, and an invitation for men to respond to Jesus and take their next step in faith.

For the men at Bartlett, this is about much more than attending a special event. It is an opportunity to gather together as the Church—to worship Jesus, hear the Gospel, receive prayer, and publicly declare their faith through baptism.

Why This Matters

Incarceration may limit where someone can go, but it does not limit where the Gospel can go.

Our heart is to create an environment inside Bartlett where these men are reminded that they are seen, valued, and invited into the same life-changing relationship with Jesus that we proclaim every weekend at Victory City.

And we want to bring our best. Not because we are trying to put on a production, but because the men inside Bartlett are worth serving with excellence.

One of the most meaningful moments of the night will be baptism. Men who have placed their faith in Jesus will have the opportunity to publicly declare that decision, surrounded by their brothers and a Victory City team there to worship, pray, and celebrate alongside them.

Kingdom Builders Made This Possible

Through Kingdom Builders, $30,000 has already been given to make this night possible.

That generosity is providing the equipment and resources needed to bring a complete live church service inside the Bartlett Innovation Unit—not just for one night, but creating greater capacity for ministry inside the facility.

Because of your generosity, worship, prayer, the Gospel, and baptism are going beyond the walls of our church and inside the walls of a prison.

This is what Kingdom Builders makes possible.

On October 24, we get to go where these men are and bring the Church to them—creating space for them to encounter the hope, presence, and life-changing power of Jesus.

Thank you for giving beyond yourself and helping us take the Gospel beyond our walls.

National & Global Missions

Awaking Hope

Global Mission Highlight

For years, our missions partner Awaking Hope has been committed to planting churches and sharing the hope of Jesus throughout Ukraine and beyond. To date, they have helped plant 232 churches—and in the midst of war, that mission has taken on a new significance.

In areas impacted by the war, some church buildings have been destroyed and entire communities displaced. As people return to these areas, local churches are beginning to gather again—but many have no building to call home.

Awaking Hope is helping change that by constructing modular church buildings in Western Ukraine, transporting them across the country, and assembling them in communities where churches are being reestablished. Each building seats approximately 55–60 people and comes equipped with chairs, heating, and air conditioning—creating a permanent place for people to gather, worship, hear the Gospel, and rebuild community together.

Through the generosity of Victory City, Kingdom Builders gave $20,000 to fully fund one of these church buildings. What was a financial gift here became a physical church home thousands of miles away—a place where ministry can continue in the midst of incredibly difficult circumstances.

And the work continues. Awaking Hope is currently working to establish 12–14 additional modular churches, including locations serving military communities.

This is what generosity can do. It crosses borders, meets people where they are, and helps ensure that even in places marked by devastation, the Church can continue to be a place of hope.

Co-Church

National Mission Highlight

Because of your partnership and investment in Co-Church, we have been able to create deep and meaningful connections with more than 30 churches, while also supporting hundreds of churches through our online resources and training tools. One pastor in our network, Jason Cowart from Freedom Church in Liberty, TX, shared: “I am convinced that, second only to the Holy Spirit, Co-Church has been the greatest catalyst for positive change at Freedom since our launch almost 5 years ago.” Stories like this are possible because partners like you help make it possible for churches of every size to experience the collective wisdom, encouragement, and support that comes through the Co-Church network.
