Investor Responsibility and Risk Awareness

Engaging in or gaining exposure to financial products involves inherent risks, including the potential for significant or complete loss of capital. Financial markets can be volatile, unpredictable, and influenced by factors beyond any party's control. No financial product, strategy, or service can guarantee profit, performance, or the achievement of specific objectives.

Key principles:

- Past performance is not indicative of future results. Historical data, back-tested outcomes, or illustrative scenarios are for informational purposes only and must not be treated as forecasts.
- Forward-looking statements—including projections, models, or simulations—are based on assumptions that may change and should not be relied upon as the sole basis for any financial decision.
- Independent professional advice is strongly recommended, which may include:
 - o A financial advisor for assessing product suitability and investment strategies
 - o A legal advisor for contractual or regulatory considerations
 - o A tax advisor for understanding tax implications and reporting obligations

Your financial decisions should be made only after fully understanding the product's characteristics, associated risks, and how they align with your financial situation and objectives. By continuing to engage with our content or any third-party introductions facilitated through our platform, you acknowledge that you act entirely at your own risk. TRADEQUOMARKETS FINANCIAL SERVICES L.L.C and its affiliates accept no liability for any loss or damage arising from reliance on our information or from interactions with third-party providers.
