I. Introduction

The Contract is a binary event contract relating to whether Cloud9 is officially declared champion of the 2026 League of Legends World Championship by Riot Games. The Contract does not permit any additional parameters, iterations, or permutations. The Exchange intends to separately submit a certification pursuant to 17 C.F.R. § 40.2(d) that references this Contract as the basis for an event contract series covering other competitors in the 2026 League of Legends World Championship that share an identical settlement source and methodology with this Contract.
