

HI I'M

BRIGITA BONAS

A CONTEMPORARY MIXED MEDIA ARTIST

I create emotionally impactful mixed-media paintings exploring instinct, freedom, connection and personal transformation.

Drawing from my background in architecture, Human Design, BioGeometry principles and intuitive creative practice. My work balances raw expression with symbolic storytelling.

Through layers of oil, texture and movement, I create pieces that invite clients to reconnect with their own inner certainty, vitality and sense of possibility.

THE MISSING LAYER BETWEEN A WELL-DESIGNED ROOM AND A SPACE THAT TRULY MOVES PEOPLE.

Many interiors are visually polished yet emotionally flat.

They have the right furniture, the right materials and the right lighting but they don't evoke anything.

My work is created to bring warmth, presence, story and emotional resonance into those spaces-transforming a room from something that simply looks good in a catalog into something that feels alive and lived in.

A CURATED SELECTION OF CURRENTLY AVAILABLE ORIGINAL WORKS IS PRESENTED BELOW. LARGER-SCALE COMMISSIONS ARE ALSO AVAILABLE FOR SPECIFIC INTERIORS.

'WILD INSTINCT'

40 x 50cm | 15.7" x 19.7"
MIXED MEDIA OIL PAINTING - 2026

I like nature because it shows things exactly as they are.
Raw, instinctive, unapologetic.

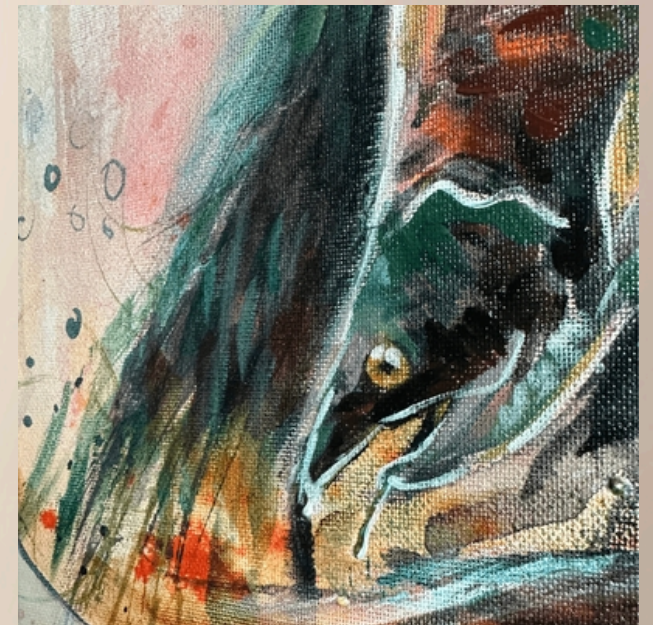

Animals don't sit there overthinking whether they deserve something. They feel, they move, they take action. There's something so attractive about that to me - the sweet moment of grabbing what you desire with no second thought.

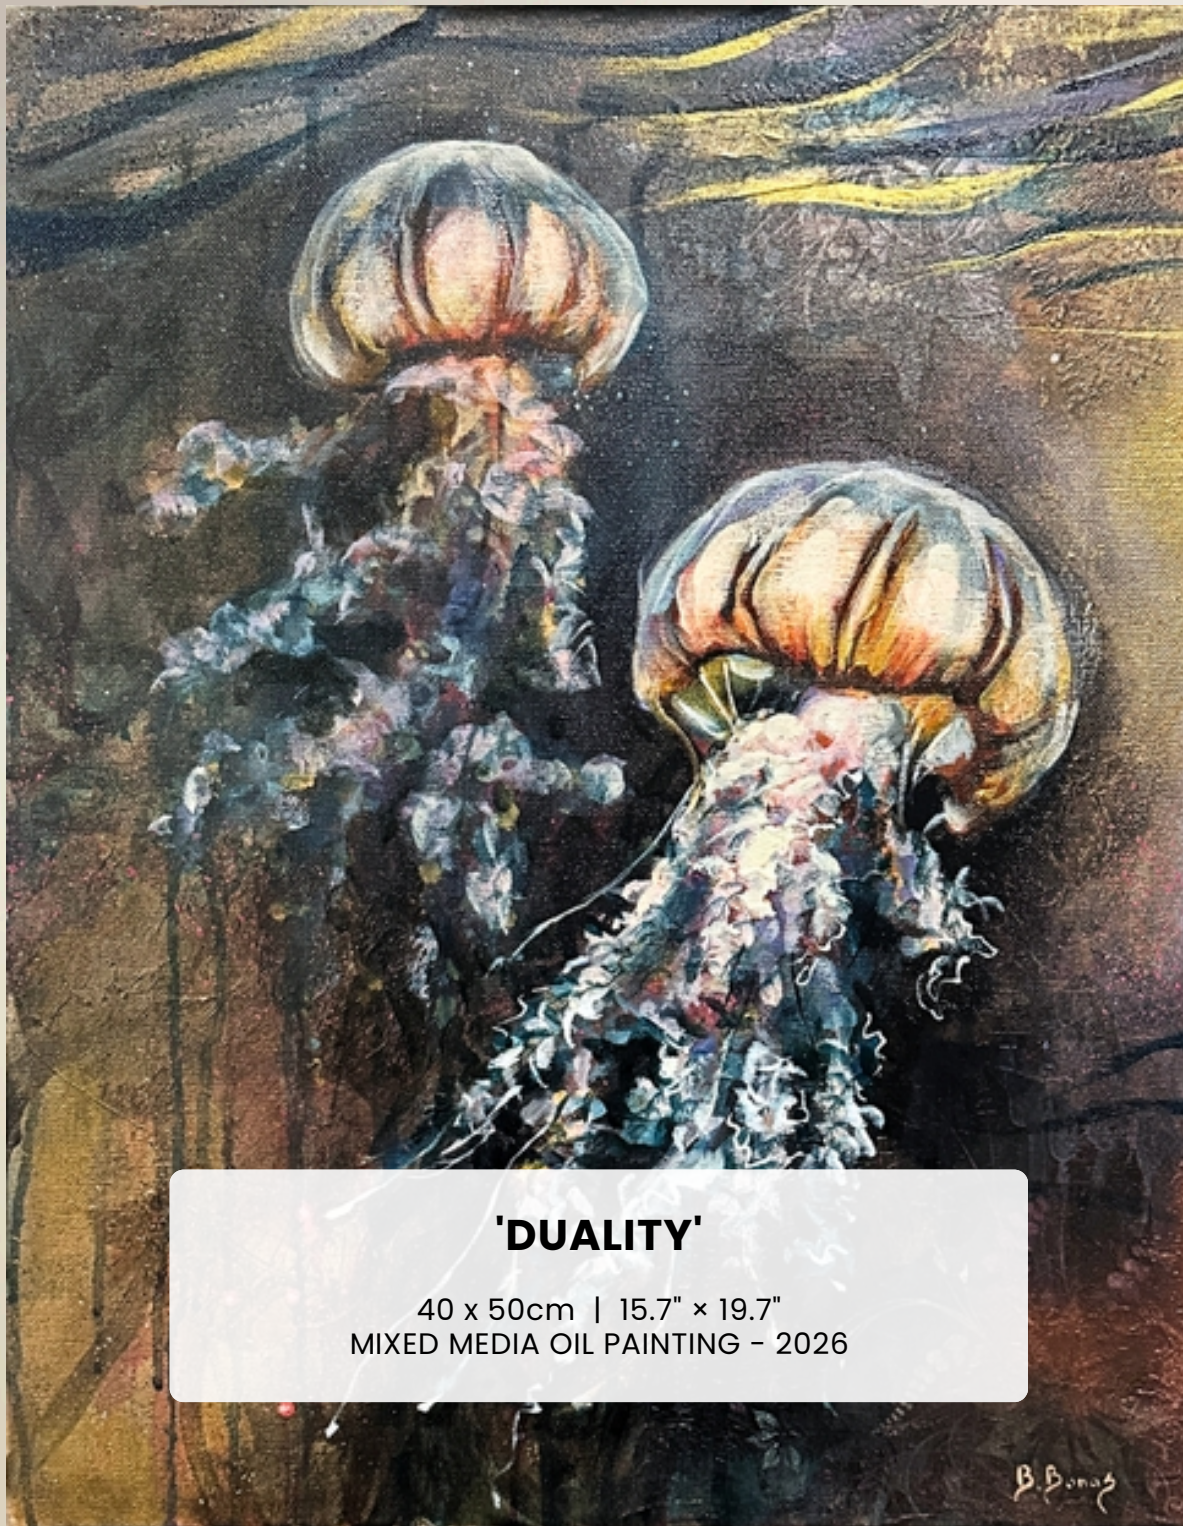

The blood is rushing.
The instinct kicks in.
And when you turn off the mind, things suddenly become simple.

This piece reflects that energy. The tension between instinct and overthinking, between the wild self and the controlled self we learn to become. The rough textures, drips, earthy tones and deep reds all came naturally through that feeling of raw life force moving through the body.

The bear feels powerful but calm to me. Certain.

Wild Certainty is a reminder that maybe not everything in life needs to be forced or endlessly analysed. Sometimes your body, your instincts, your nature already know the direction.

'DUALITY'

40 x 50cm | 15.7" x 19.7"
MIXED MEDIA OIL PAINTING - 2026

Mesmerizing enough to draw you closer.

Dangerous enough to remind you to stay aware.

The jellyfish has long been one of my spirit animals. It embodies a fascinating paradox: soft yet powerful, elegant yet dangerous, flowing yet impossible to ignore. It simply exists and the ocean rearranges itself around its presence.

This painting was born from my own experience of carrying an energy that naturally gets noticed. It doesn't matter how many masks I'm trying to hide it behind. People become aware. The air shifts. Attention gathers.

Nature doesn't create this kind of energy by accident.

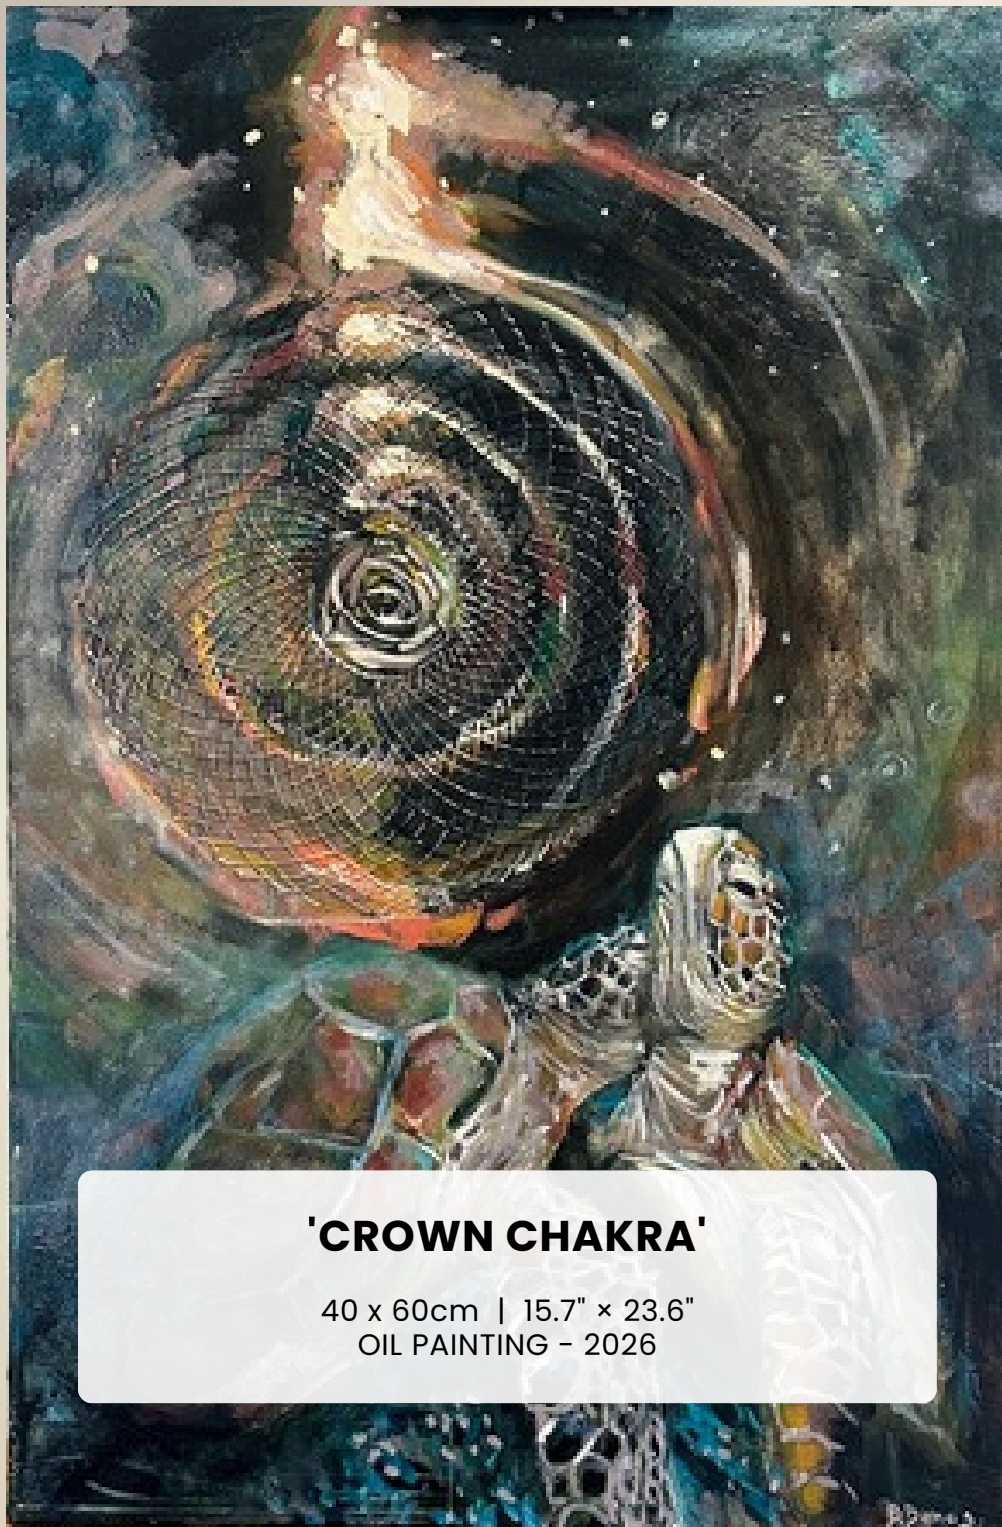

It is beautiful but definitely not passive.

Layers of shimmering gold and glow-in-the-dark paint details reveal themselves gradually as the light changes, mirroring the hidden dimensions of energy, personality and perception. What appears one way in daylight becomes something entirely different after dark..

A reminder that some of the most powerful things in nature don't roar -they glow.

This one's dedicated to my former colleague Ranbir who appreciates jellyfish.

'CROWN CHAKRA'

40 x 60cm | 15.7" x 23.6"
OIL PAINTING - 2026

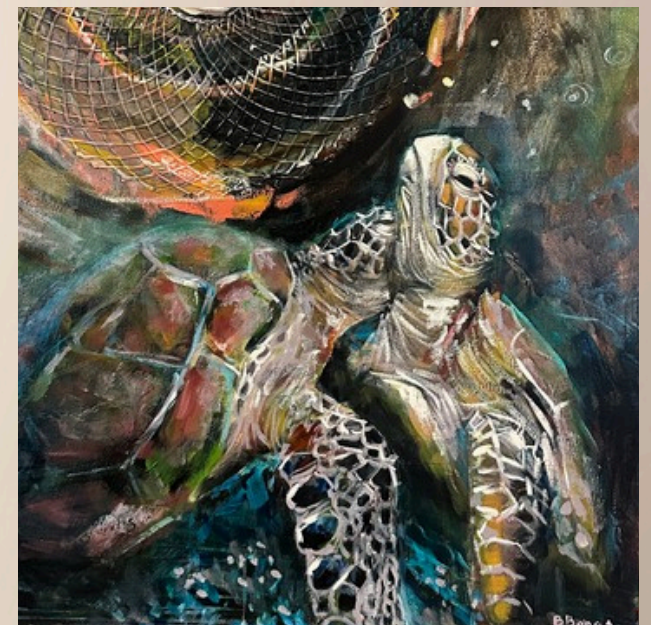

In summer I love circling underwater, floating with my eyes open and watching the sunlight distort from beneath the surface. Everything slows down. Time feels different there.

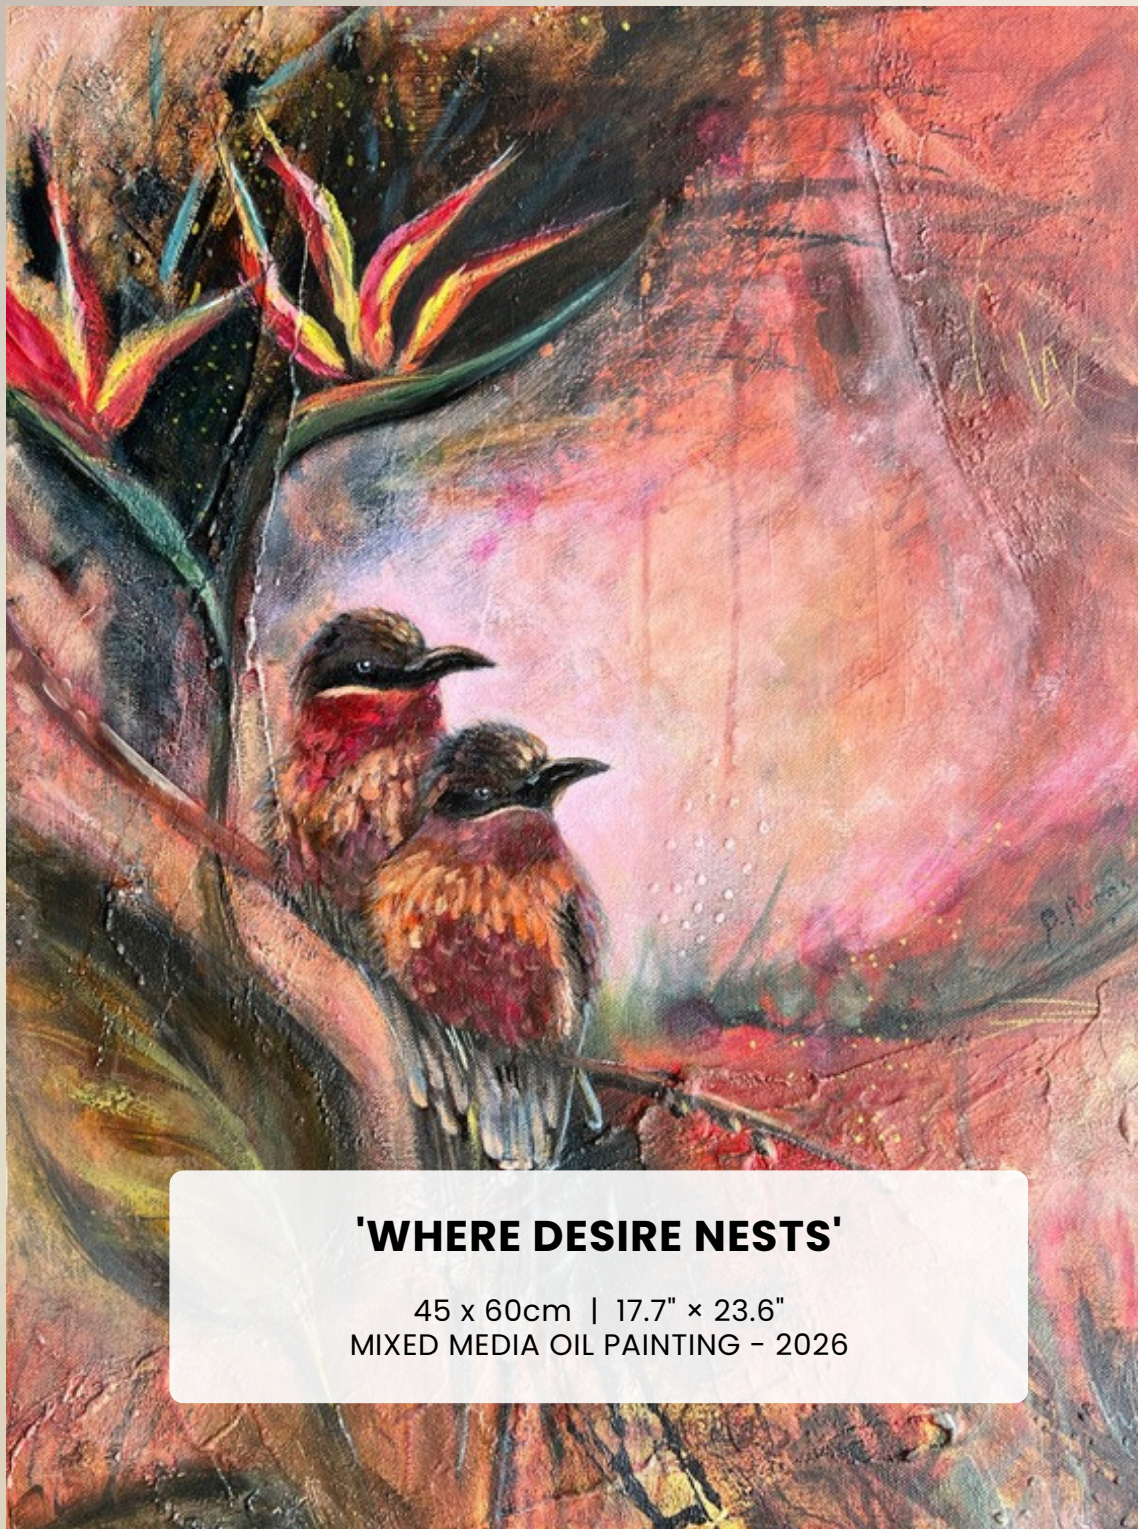

There's something about deep water that has always felt intriguing to me. The deeper you go the quieter it becomes. Less distraction. More truth.

Two sea turtles move together towards a hidden portal guided by ancient wisdom - no urgency here. They don't force the current. They trust it. And they share the path.

Beneath the layers of paint lies the geometry of the Crown Chakra drawn by hand in its true proportions beneath the water's swirl. It isn't immediately visible yet it subtly shapes the entire composition much like intuition itself. Some things aren't meant to be seen at first glance. You have to look from different perspectives.

Crown Chakra is about trust. The courage to move into deep water. And the simple knowing that when we stop resisting the current, we often arrive exactly where we were meant to be. Wherever that is.

'WHERE DESIRE NESTS'

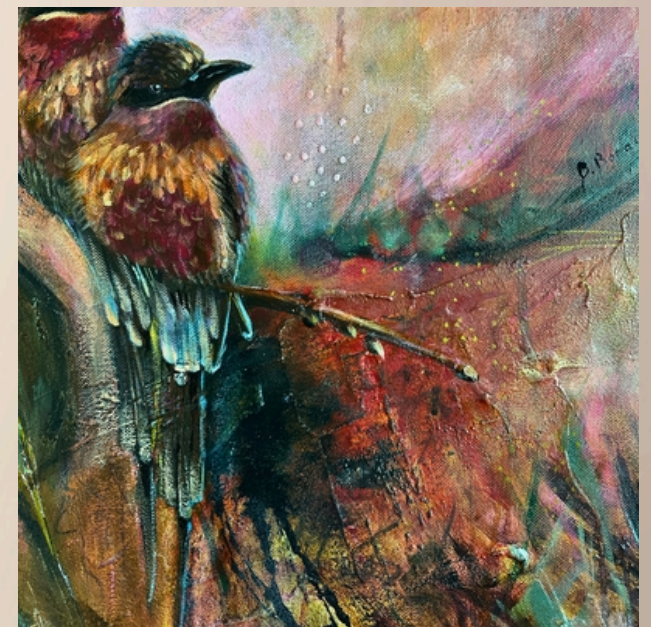

45 x 60cm | 17.7" x 23.6"
MIXED MEDIA OIL PAINTING - 2026

Where Desire Nests captures the vibrant energy of spring - that season when the world begins to stir again, when birds grow restless with joy and life moves instinctively toward connection, creation and renewal.

This piece speaks of beginnings: of attraction, of pair-bonding, of the quiet yet powerful pull between two beings choosing closeness. The birds rest together within a world of lush warmth and tropical bloom where instinct finds home.

Painted in rich fire tones - crimson, coral, ember pink and deep warmth - the work carries the vitality of birth, rebirth and seasonal awakening. The presence of the two birds adds a relational dimension that makes the piece especially meaningful symbolically: it is not only about passion but about harmony, companionship and the beauty of shared presence.

In Feng Shui this painting is especially suited to the south area of a home or room, as its radiant fire colours energize that direction beautifully. At the same time the imagery of two closely connected birds can support the energy of love, union and relationship, making it a powerful piece for spaces where connection, warmth and togetherness are meant to flourish.

'GOLDEN HOUR'

40 x 50cm | 15.7" x 19.7"
MIXED MEDIA OIL PAINTING - 2026

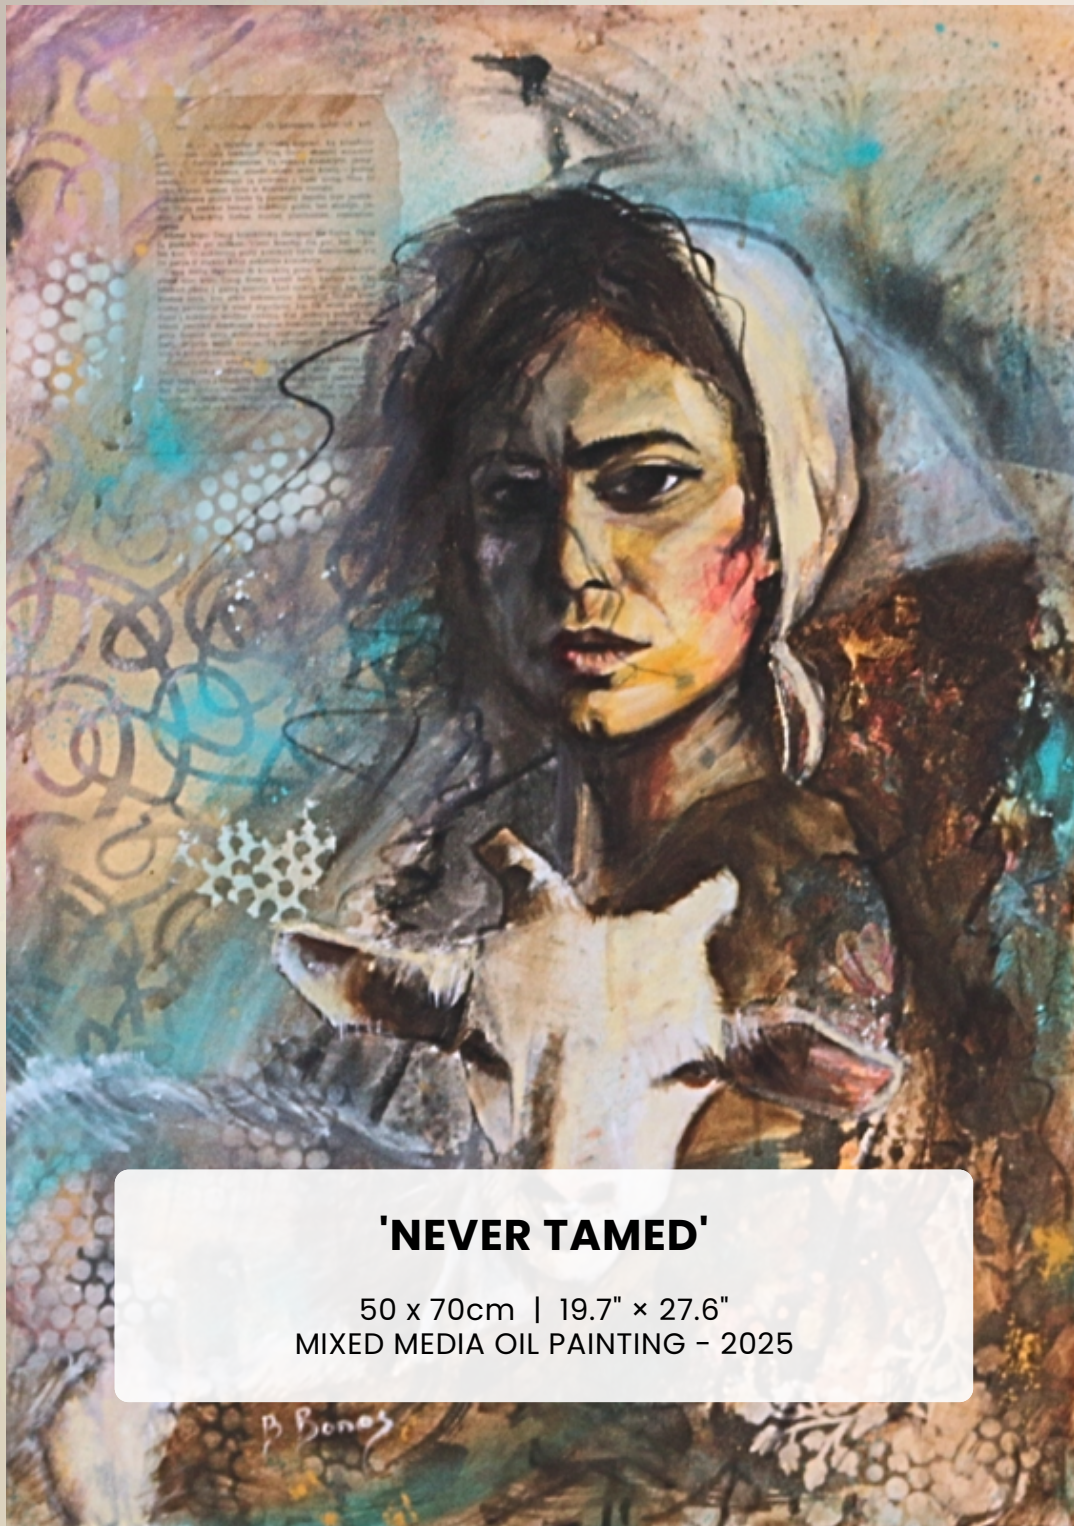

The shimmering gold on the surface catches light like the last rays of sun before dusk - soft but burning. It reveals itself slowly much like passion that deepens rather than fades.

This is not a gentle union. It is the meeting of two lion-hearted souls - self-assured, sovereign, unwilling to shrink. What emerges is a kind of sacred tension: lust without chaos, closeness without loss of self.

The piece carries a distinctly intimate energy - one that belongs in spaces where connection is felt not performed. A bedroom, a private corner, a place where presence matters more than appearance.

Golden Hour is about that rare dynamic where strength doesn't compete -it amplifies. Where desire and respect coexist. Where heat becomes something steady almost eternal.

'NEVER TAMED'

50 x 70cm | 19.7" x 27.6"
MIXED MEDIA OIL PAINTING - 2025

There are women who walk through the world with no need for permission and Never Tamed is her portrait.

With piercing eyes and a posture that doesn't flinch, she stands side by side with a goat - a symbol of wild spirit, instinct, and rebellion. She does not follow rules. She listens to the land, the animal within, and something ancient in her blood.

Layered with collage, golden spray paint, and textured oil, this piece weaves softness and strength into one unshakable presence. The patterns behind her hint at stories passed down through hands and soil. She belongs to herself.

This is a painting for those who refuse to shrink. For those who know that true beauty is never domesticated.

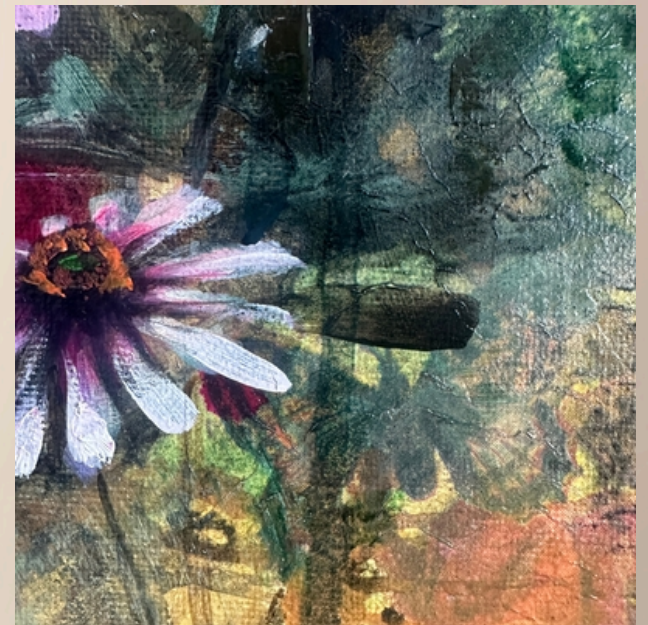

'FIREWEED'

30 x 40cm | 11.8" x 15.7"
MIXED MEDIA OIL PAINTING - 2026

Fireweed is a meditation on resilience, femininity and quiet regeneration.

Inspired by the wild flower that blooms after fires, this piece speaks to the beauty that emerges not despite intensity but because of it. I admire this wild flower because it has the power to turn blackened, charred landscapes bright pink fast.

Fireweed honors the cycles of burning and becoming. It is a reminder that beauty often arrives after disruption - richer, freer and more luminous than before.

'HER RHYTHM'

50 x 60cm | 19.7" x 23.6"
MIXED MEDIA OIL PAINTING - 2026

This intimate painting is my love letter to the divine feminine - a theme I usually explore through ethereal women, soft lines and archetypal symbolism.

But here the feminine is evoked through him.

The saxophone, dressed in real gold leaf, becomes a sacred vessel.

Instead of sound alone, it pours out flowers - an offering, a devotion, a blooming expression of beauty, romance and life force. The music becomes something she can feel in her body: smooth, sensual, warm and deeply alive.

Jazzy lights shimmer around him as the scene dissolves into soft reds and rose-tinted shadows. It's the atmosphere of a late-night bar where the air is thick with feeling - where every note is an invitation, every bloom a metaphor and the entire moment becomes an ode to the feminine energy that inspires creation itself.

This piece is about admiration, softness, seduction and the power of artistic expression as worship - a masculine gesture honoring the feminine through music, color and gold.

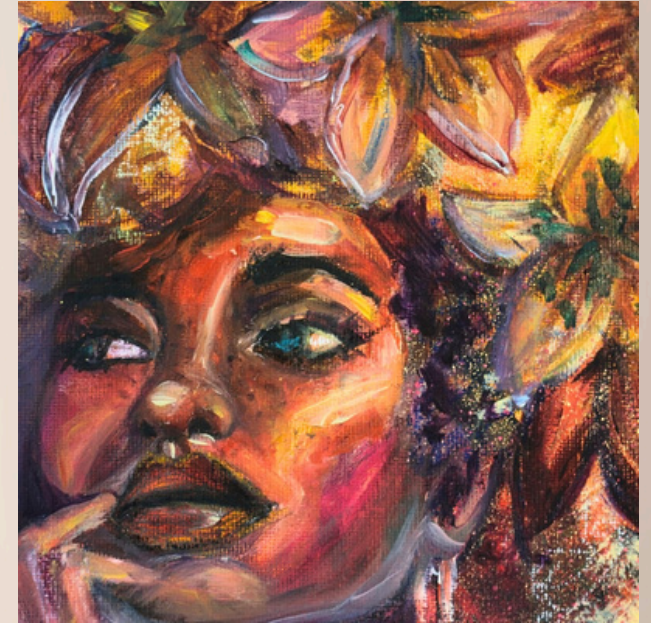

'SOFT POWER'

25 x 30cm | 9.8" x 11.8"
MIXED MEDIA OIL PAINTING - 2025

She doesn't need to speak loudly to be heard. Her presence is magnetic — blooming quietly, radiating confidence, rooted in self-knowing.

This piece is a celebration of unapologetic beauty, softness without weakness, and the kind of power that simply is.

I loved every second of painting her — especially getting lost in the texture of her glorious afro, wild and full of life like a crown of blooming lilies.
