

Working across a range of residential, commercial, retail, leisure and education projects throughout the UK, Ellie brings expertise in planning research, policy analysis and the preparation and management of planning applications. She is currently working towards Chartered Membership of the RTPI.

BA Geography and Planning – Newcastle University

MSc Urban Planning – Newcastle University

Ellie joined Planning Potential in September 2024 after completing an MSc in Urban Planning at Newcastle University. Since joining, she has worked on a diverse portfolio of projects, preparing planning appraisals, managing planning applications from inception to determination, and supporting clients and colleagues with planning strategy and project management. Ellie splits her time between the Harrogate, Newcastle and Bristol offices.

Away from the office, Ellie spends her Sundays playing rugby and enjoys cycling, walking and camping in her spare time.
