ENDORSEMENT

The Indian maritime industry has evolved considerably over the past several decades, and organisations that have remained relevant through this evolution have done so by combining experience with an ability to adapt to changing technology, regulations and operational requirements. The Moloobhoy Group of companies is a good example of such an organisation.

Moloobhoys have built a strong reputation over many decades through their focus on NavCom systems, LSA & FFA systems, servicing, tech support, and of later, integrated systems. From a shipowner's and operator's perspective, the value of such a partner goes well beyond the supply of equipment. Timely service, technical competence, understanding of statutory and class requirements, and the ability to respond effectively when a vessel requires support are all critical to safe and efficient ship operations.

I have also been impressed by the manner in which the Moloobhoys have continued to broaden their capabilities while retaining the values on which the organisation was founded.

Their investment in technical expertise, OEM relationships, training and specialised marine services demonstrates an understanding of the increasingly sophisticated requirements of today's shipping industry.

With more than a century of association with the maritime sector, Moloobhoys have an important legacy to build upon. I wish the Moloobhoy Group and its leadership continued success and growth, and hope that they will continue to contribute meaningfully to the development of India's maritime ecosystem.

Yours sincerely,

Capt. B. K. Tyagi
