

MCCLINDEN

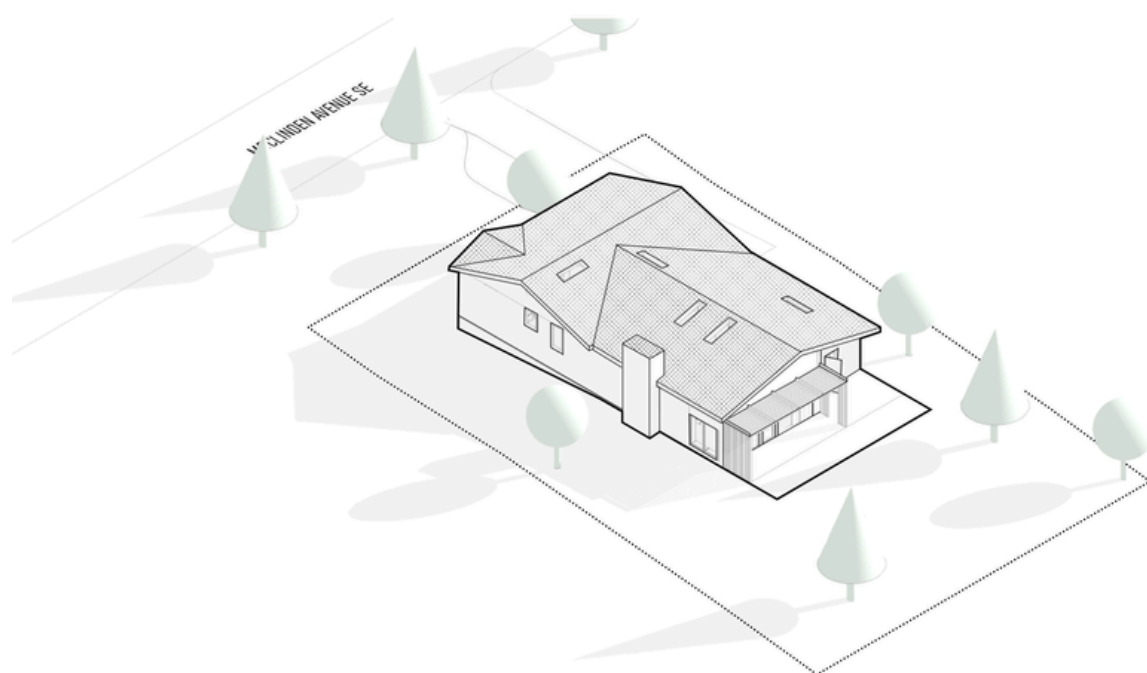

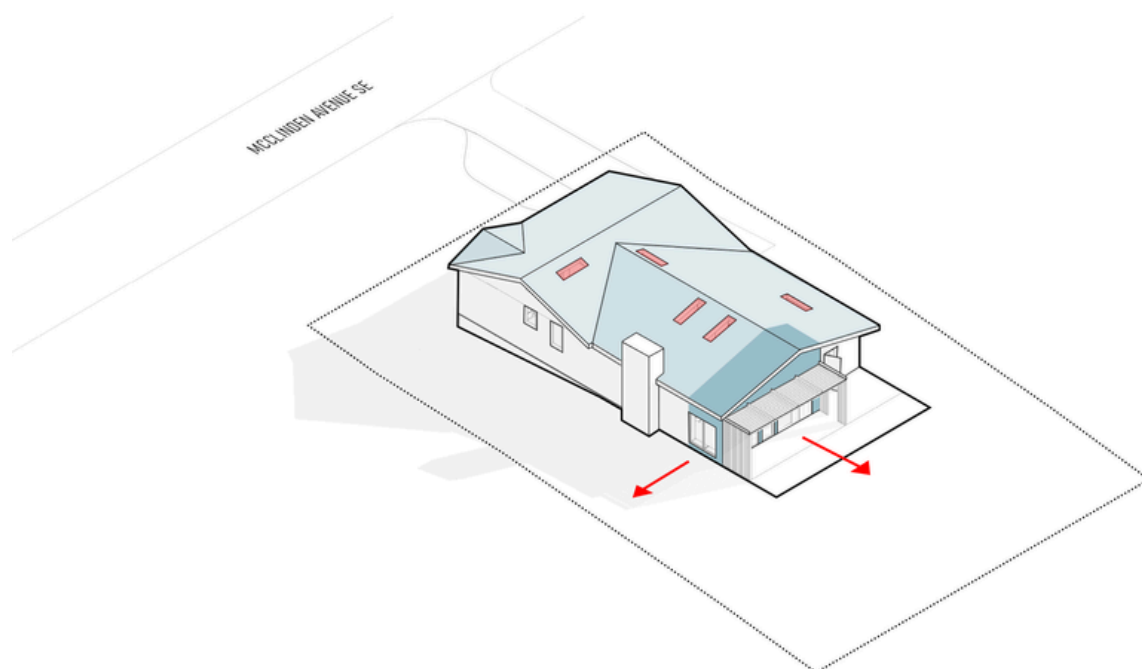

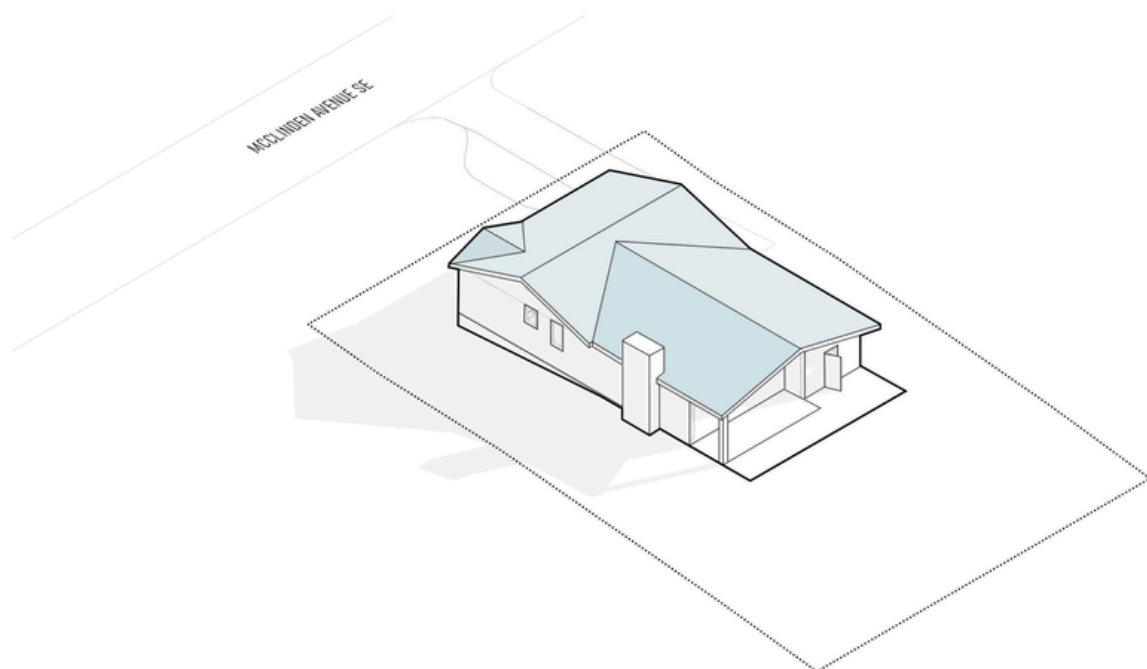

PROJECT OVERVIEW

McLinden is a residential renovation that respects the mid-century roots of a 1960s stone-clad house while expanding and updating the structure for contemporary living.

ADDITION

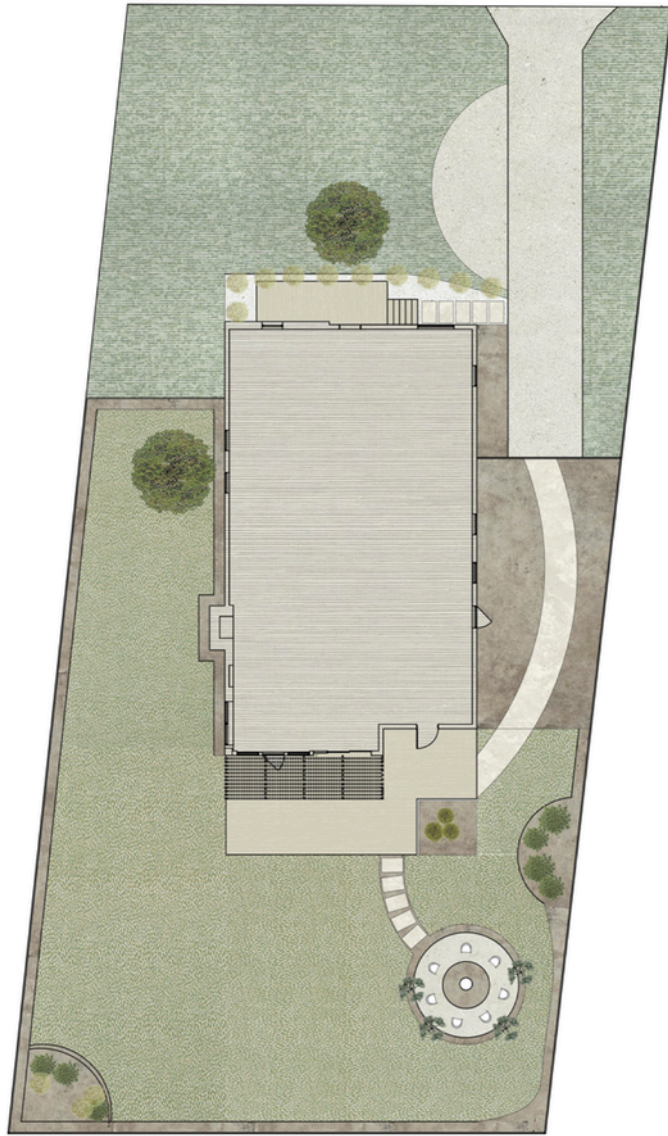

The project's design strategy centers on a modest 200 sq ft rear addition under the existing roofline and a new covered deck, all planned within zoning and setback regulations.

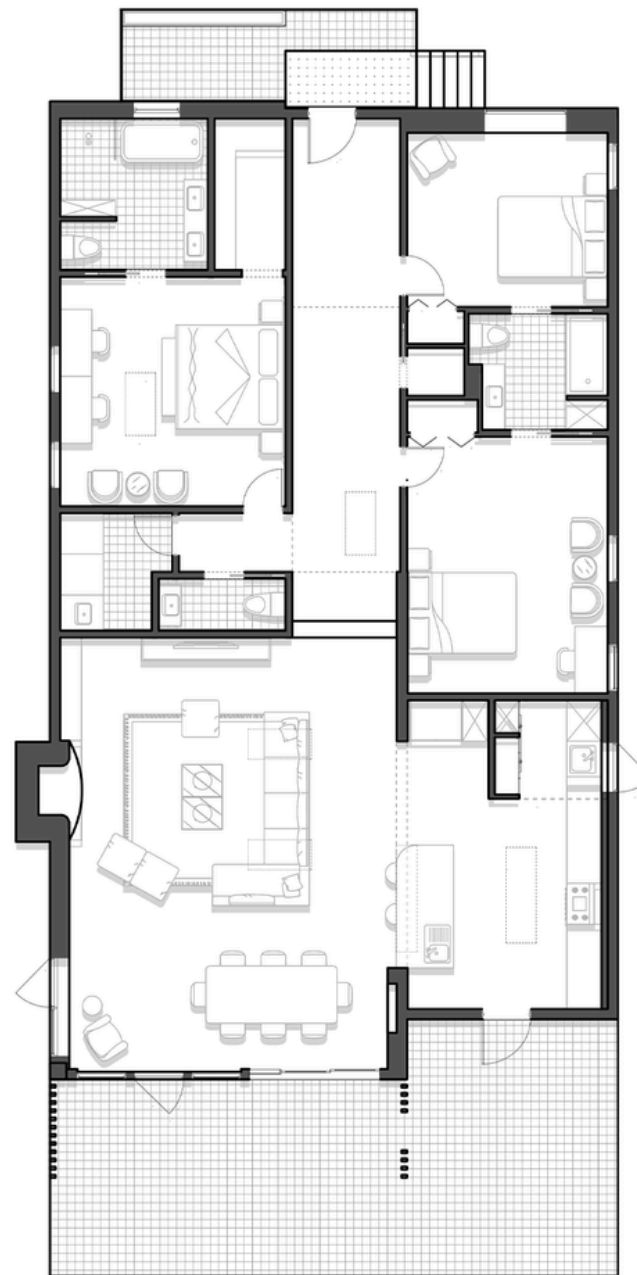

ADDITION

Axonometric diagrams illustrating the proposed building extension, showing how the new volume is added to the existing structure and its relationship to the site

LIVING AREA STRATEGY

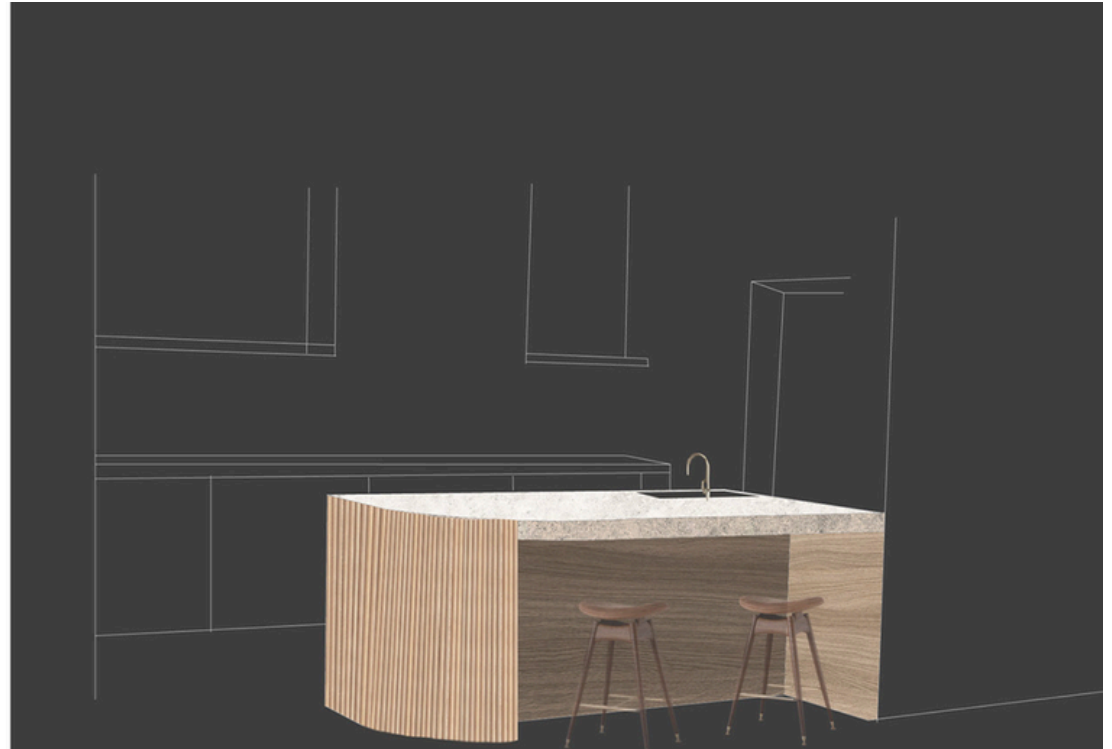

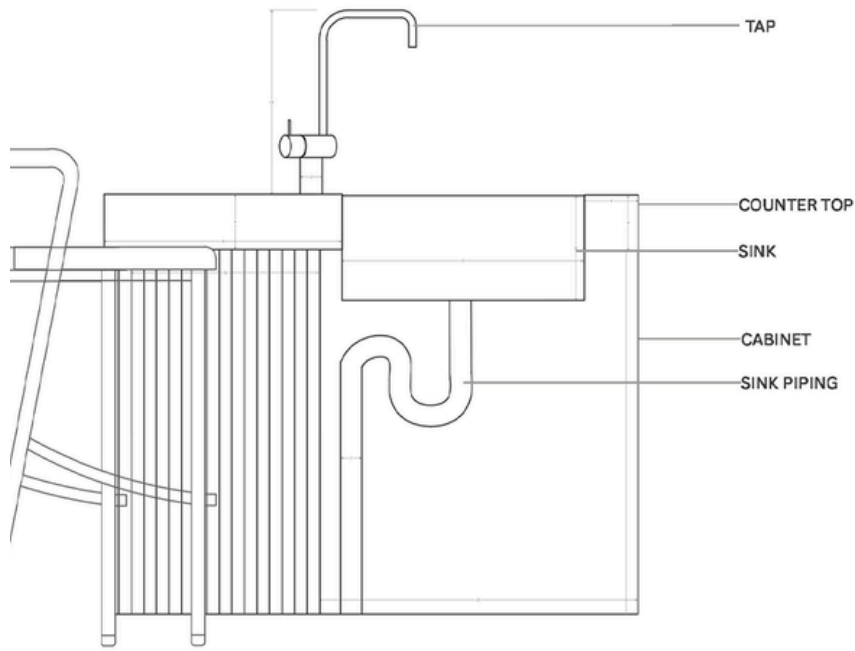

At the heart of the remodel is the vaulted hallway: a wide, skylit corridor that creates a dramatic axis through the home and sets the tone for the rear living space. A 13-foot ceiling defines the living area, establishing a bright, expansive space that contrasts with the more compressed entry sequence.

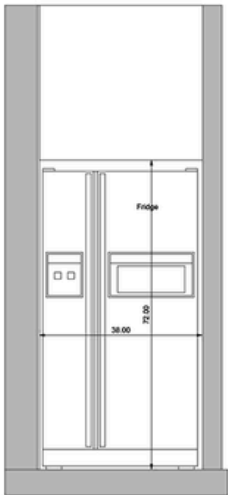

KITCHEN DETAILS

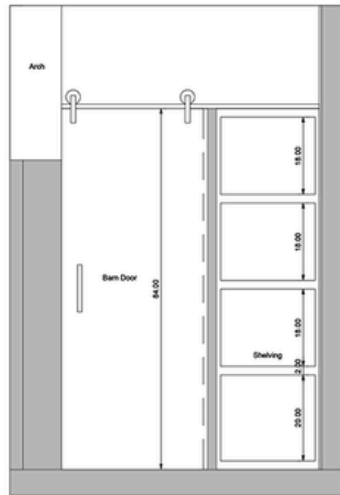

The updated kitchen is fully open to the dining and living areas, enabling seamless social interaction. Carefully placed built-ins, recessed shelving, and window seats offer tactile and functional enhancements throughout. Material contrasts between preserved stone, warm wood cladding, and clean-lined finishes establish a layered but coherent interior language.

EXTERIOR DECK STRATEGY

The exterior deck with its custom wood cover bridges indoor and outdoor space, extending daily life into the landscape.

CONCLUSION

In all, McLinden balances spatial clarity with subtle complexity, preserving a home's historical narrative while writing its next chapter in a distinctly modern vocabulary.
