

The Louis Vuitton Bed Trunks reimaged by Pharrell Williams and Nicolas Ghesquière.
PHOTO: COURTESY OF LOUIS VUITTON

The Artful Life: 5 Things Galerie Editors Love This Week

From two new versions of Louis Vuitton’s iconic Bed Trunk to model residences designed by Josh Greene at the Waldorf Astoria in New York

BY GALERIE EDITORS

SEPTEMBER 24, 2024

An installation view of “These Boots Are Made for Walkin’,” curated by Christine Mack and Natasha Schlesinger.
PHOTO: ROOM 57 GALLERY

4. Room 57 Gallery Presents Striking Group Show Celebrating Women’s Autonomy and Freedom

“These Boots are Made for Walkin’” may be the name of the famous 1966 Nancy Sinatra song, but this season, it’s also the title of a new group exhibition curated by independent art advisor Natasha Schlesinger and Christine Mack, a collector and the founder of the Mack Art Foundation and Artist Residency. On display at Room 57 Gallery in New York through November 5, the dynamic show features the work of a diverse group of artists in an ode to women’s autonomy and freedom of expression. Special highlights include work by iconic trailblazers like Françoise Gilot, Marilyn Minter, as well as international rising stars such as L.A.–based artist Samantha Rosenwald and painter Lovisa Sköld. “The show proposes to consider featured art works in all their multi-faceted iterations from whimsical and humorous to more serious and poignant,” says Schlesinger in a statement. “Whether expressed as paintings, neon sculptures or ceramic forms, these works tantalize, engage, and inspire the audience to have conversations and debates particularly urgent for our culture and time.” —Lucy Rees