Concise Description of the Contract and Analysis of Compliance with the Commodity Exchange Act, Core Principles, and Commission Regulations

I. Introduction

The Contract is a binary event contract relating to whether Cloud9 wins the best-of-five Play-In Stage Round 1 match between Cloud9 and the opponent assigned by Riot Games' Play-In Stage draw at the 2026 League of Legends World Championship, scheduled for October 15, 2026 in Los Angeles, California, as officially recorded by Riot Games. The Contract does not permit any additional parameters, iterations, or permutations. The Exchange intends to separately submit a certification pursuant to 17 C.F.R. § 40.2(d) that references this Contract as the basis for an event contract series covering other competitors and matches of the 2026 League of Legends World Championship that share an identical settlement source and methodology with this Contract.

This Contract settles in cash with a notional value of $1.00. A Contract resolves "Yes" if, and only if, the Settlement Reference Source records Cloud9 as the winner of the referenced match under the settlement provisions below; resolves to "No" in all other cases, except where a provision below provides that the Contract is void (push). The full contract terms and conditions are set out in Appendix A.

Pursuant to Section 5c(c)(1) of the Act and Commission Regulation 40.2(a), ProphetX certifies that the listing of the Contract complies with the Act and the Commission's regulations thereunder. A Core Principle compliance analysis is included in Confidential Appendix C. A demonstration of compliance with Appendix C to Part 38 of the Commission's regulations, including the occurrence integrity assessment, settlement methodology verification, conclusion statement, and supporting documentation, is included in Confidential Appendix D.

II. General Contract Terms

This Contract has a $1.00 notional value and a $0.01 minimum price fluctuation. The Contract may only be listed at prices between $0.01 and $0.99. The payout structure is binary: the "Yes" side of an in-the-money Contract receives $1.00 at settlement; the "No" side receives nothing. All Contracts are fully collateralized: no Market Participant may hold a position that creates an exposure in excess of funds on deposit in its Exchange account, consistent with Rules 5.1(b), 5.1(f), and 7.3 of the Rulebook. Trading is available outside of announced maintenance windows. Fees are assessed in accordance with Rule 3.6 of the Rulebook.

Settlement is determined from the official result of the referenced event as published by the Settlement Reference Source. Markets are settled after the close of trading once that result is available, ordinarily the same day, with "Yes" position holders and "No" position holders paid in accordance with the applicable Payout Criterion.

[1] The Contract has not been endorsed by Riot Games, any league, tournament, team, or affiliated organization. The use of the names "Riot Games" and "League of Legends" is solely for the purpose of identifying the underlying events.

APPENDIX A – CONTRACT TERMS AND CONDITIONS

1. "Will Cloud9 win its Play-In Stage Round 1 match at the 2026 League of Legends World Championship on October 15, 2026?"

Official Name	"Will Cloud9 win its Play-In Stage Round 1 match at the 2026 League of Legends World Championship on October 15, 2026?"
Underlying	whether Cloud9 wins the best-of-five Play-In Stage Round 1 match between Cloud9 and the opponent assigned by Riot Games' Play-In Stage draw at the 2026 League of Legends World Championship, scheduled for October 15, 2026 in Los Angeles, California, as officially recorded by Riot Games
Settlement Reference Source	The primary Settlement Reference Source is Riot Games, which organizes and operates the 2026 League of Legends World Championship through LoL Esports, as published at lolesports.com (https://lolesports.com). The secondary Settlement Reference Source is the 2026 World Championship page of the Liquipedia League of Legends wiki (https://liquipedia.net/leagueoflegends/World_Championship/2026). The Exchange will consult the secondary source only if the primary source has not published the official result within a reasonable time after the referenced outcome is officially determined. If the sources conflict, the primary source governs. If neither source has published the official result and a Settlement Disruption exists, the Exchange may exercise its authority under Exchange Rule 5.2. Any change to the Settlement Reference Sources will be submitted to the Commission under Part 40 of the Commission's regulations before it takes effect.
Settlement Criteria	Resolves to "Yes" if, and only if, the Settlement Reference Source records Cloud9 as the winner of the referenced match under the settlement provisions below; resolves to "No" in all other cases, except where a provision below provides that the Contract is void (push). Unless otherwise specified in the applicable Contract Specifications, all esports event contracts listed on ProphetX shall be settled in accordance with the provisions below. Defined terms used herein have the meanings ascribed to them in the ProphetX Rulebook. References to 'orders' include resting and filled orders as applicable; references to 'settlement' refer to final contract disposition following outcome determination. Where a provision below provides that a Contract is void, the Contract is treated as a push: all orders on it are void and collateral is returned to the applicable accounts. A. Units of play. A “match” or “series” is a contest between two teams consisting of one or more games under the format set by the governing body (for example, best-of-one, best-of-three or best-of-five). A “game” is a single completed competitive instance within a match, as that term is used in League of Legends. League of Legends games are not subdivided into rounds or halves for settlement purposes, and a game concludes when the governing body records a winner of that game. B. Governing Authority. All Contracts are offered in accordance with ProphetX’s Rulebook and Terms and Conditions. Unless specifically stated in the applicable Contract Specifications, settlement shall be based on the official result, classifications and definitions established by Riot Games under the official rules of the 2026 League of Legends World Championship, as published by the Settlement Reference Source. C. Scheduling. Dates and start times displayed on the Exchange are provided for informational purposes only and are not guaranteed. Official schedules are as published by the applicable governing body. D. Postponed and Cancelled Events. If a match does not begin within forty-eight (48) hours of its originally scheduled start time, or is cancelled before any official result relevant to the Contract is published, all orders on the affected Contracts shall be void (push) and collateral shall be returned to the applicable accounts. A match that begins within that window settles on its official result. E. Forfeits, Walkovers and Disqualifications. If a match or game is forfeited, awarded by walkover, or a team is disqualified before any play has occurred in the period referenced by the Contract, all orders on the affected Contracts shall be void (push) and collateral shall be returned to the applicable accounts, whether or not the governing body credits either team with a win. If a forfeit or disqualification occurs after play in that period has begun, the Contract settles on the result as officially awarded and recorded by the governing body. A disqualification announced after the governing body has officially declared the result of the referenced period is taken into account only if the governing body alters the official result before settlement. F. Remakes, Restarts and Replays. If the governing body orders a full or partial replay of a game or series (for example, a League of Legends remake or chronobreak, or a replay ordered after a server failure or verified cheating), only the officially completed and counted result governs, and a restarted or replayed instance is counted once. G. Format Changes. If the governing body changes the format of a match after a Contract is listed (for example, a best-of-five converted to a best-of-three), the altered format governs Contracts on the winner of the match or of a game. For Contracts on the number of games played or on a game spread, the Contract shall be void (push) and collateral shall be returned to the applicable accounts unless the outcome had already been unequivocally determined under the original format. H. Team Identity. A team is identified by the lineup the governing body recognizes as that entry. Roster substitutions do not change the team's identity. If a team's roster transfers to, or competes under, a different organization, name or brand and Riot Games recognizes the lineup as the same team or its natural successor, the Contract follows that team; if the governing body treats it as a distinct entry, the Contract does not transfer. I. Absence of Official Results. In the absence of a result required for the settlement of a specific Contract from the official sources listed, the secondary Settlement Reference Source may be used to support settlement. In the event ProphetX cannot reasonably determine the outcome of a Contract, all orders on the affected Contracts shall be void (push) and collateral shall be returned to the applicable accounts.
