SECTION 1 : ANALOGY

1. C

The figure is having two parts i.e. one shaded and one unshaded. They just swap their positions (C).

2. B

The first figure has 'n' sides and the required figure has 'n + 1' sides. Line outside the first figure comes inside in the second figure (B).

3. C

The figure having lines turns clockwise at an angle of 90°, line with arrow becomes smaller in comparison to the corresponding line and the circle in the line figure comes to the end point of the line. The circle given inside converts into a square (C).

4. D

Inner figure comes outside and becomes unshaded and outer figure goes inside and becomes shaded (D).

5. A

Number of sides decrease by 2 i.e 'n' becomes 'n - 2' (Here 'n' is number of sides) (A).

6. B

The inner most shape becomes the outer most and the outer most becomes the inner most (B).

7. E

The diagonal elements swap their positions (E).

8. E

The figure rotates at an angle of 45° clockwise (E).

9. B

Divide the figure into two equal parts and take the bottom one (B).

10. B

The elements of left most column are used inside the circle. The lines of middle column join squares with circles (B).
