

ABOUT

Marki Lucky is a Ukrainian-born virtuoso redefining what the violin can do on a modern stage. Classically trained at the University of Miami's Frost School of Music, he fuses conservatory technique with the energy of a headline show — and is the inventor of the world's first pyrotechnic violin.

ABOUT THE ARTIST

Marki Lucky is a Ukrainian-born violinist redefining what the instrument can do on the modern luxury stage. Playing since the age of five, he trained at the Kyiv Conservatory before the 2022 invasion of Ukraine brought him to the United States — where he earned a Bachelor of Music at the University of Tennessee under renowned pedagogue Miroslav Hristov, and a Master of Music at the University of Miami's Frost School of Music. It is a conservatory foundation he now channels into high-energy, immersive, avant-garde performance.

His sound collides classical virtuosity with EDM, house, luxury pop and cinematic covers, engineered for the world's most demanding rooms. Marki is the resident violinist at Seaspice in Miami and a guest star violinist in OBSESSION, the immersive theatrical production at Miami's Faena Theater, with 100+ high-energy shows alongside companies such as Nu'Art Entertainment at Medusa in Cannes.

He has performed at Miami's renowned Adrienne Arsht Center, shared the main stage with icons Marcus Miller and Boney James aboard the Smooth Jazz Cruise, and collaborated multiple times with piano phenomenon Havasi. In 2023, a single live performance in Rome went viral — amassing more than two million views.

Marki is as much an innovator as a performer. He invented the world's first pyrotechnic violin — an instrument that lets him command integrated, venue-safe pyrotechnics directly from the bow. That same inventive drive carries into the studio, where his albums Shaken, Not Stirred (2026) and Bad Boy (2023) reimagine cinematic and pop anthems as high-energy strings.
