OUR HISTORY

A craft passed down through generations

Founded in 2005, Melbourne Stone Construction is a family-owned business that has led the way in stone masonry ever since.

Director Ethan Gardam learned the trade from his father, who has four decades of stone masonry experience. Every lesson has been passed on to our team, a core group of skilled craftsmen built over more than two decades.

Today we deliver multiple projects at once, large or small, locally and interstate.

Stone masonry is an artform that has stood the test of time.

OUR FOCUS

One standard across every sector

Residential

High-end homes, facades, fireplaces and landscapes, with individual projects up to 650m² of stonework.

Commercial

Large-scale, design-driven builds on tight programmes, delivered with a dust-free site policy.

Civil

Public infrastructure such as the Mooroolbark Station Upgrade and Benalla Police Station.

Quality is non-negotiable. If the work doesn't meet our standard, it is removed and redone until it does.

From an idea to a finished masterpiece

We work closely with architects, engineers, builders and homeowners, including those who aren't sure what they want or can't yet design and document it.
