6 days, one unfolding

Arrival

High tea, the Sarayu Aarti, dinner with the Raja of Ayodhya.

Day 1

Duty

VIP darshan at Ramjanmabhoomi, sunset at Sarayu Ghat.

Day 2

Impermanence

Sarnath with a monk, then the Ganga by boat from Namoo Ghat.

Day 3

Devotion

A private havan at dawn, Tulsidas's own house, the Ganga Pujan.

Day 4

Union

Sparsh Darshan, touching the jyotirlinga yourself.

Day 5

Release

A last breakfast by the river, and the road home.

Day 6

Sarayu Arrival

Arrival on the Sarayu

Three cities, two rivers, one line from birth to release, and it starts this afternoon on the Sarayu. Ayodhyam receives you with a thali and rest before the guests meets over high tea, then the evening's first current: reserved access at the Sarayu Aarti. Dinner follows with the Raja of Ayodhya himself.

4:30 pm Welcome Circle
High tea at Divyam, first meeting of the cohort

5:30 pm VIP Sarayu Aarti
Reserved access at the ghat

8:30 pm Dinner with the Raja of Ayodhya
Mr. Yatindra Mishra, with cultural performance

Ram's Duty

Ram's Ayodhya

This is the city Ram was born into and the duty he carried out of it, and the morning is built around the temple at its centre. VIP darshan means the storytelling happens before you enter, so the minutes inside are spent looking rather than listening, in a queue that for anyone else runs past two hours.

10:00 am Ramjanmabhoomi
VIP darshan, priority access

1:30 pm Lunch
Thali at Divyam

5:30 pm Sarayu Ghat
Sunset, storytelling and meditation
with Surakshit Goswami

Sarnath Impermanence

Ayodhya to Kashi

The road to Varanasi runs five or six hours, and Sarnath sits at its exact centre: the Dhamek Stupa grounds, where the Buddha gave his first sermon, walked with a monk who leads a sitting rather than a tour. It is the philosophical hinge of the journey, duty behind you, mortality ahead.

- 2:00 pm

Sarnath

Guided tour of the stupa grounds, a sitting with a Buddhist monk
- 5:30 pm

Boat to Avantika

From Namō Ghat, about twenty minutes on the water
- 8:00 pm

Shiva Shakti Ganga

Kathak by Pt. Rudrashankar Mishra, dinner follows

Ghats Devotion

Havan & Tulsi

Dawn on the ghats belongs to the Brahmavadinis, women Vedic scholars who conduct a private havan for this group alone, and you sit inside the rite rather than behind it. The day carries that register forward: Tulsidas's own house, and an audience with the Mahant of the akhara next door.

- | | |
| 7:30 am | Havan by the Ghats
Led by Brahmavadinis from Panini Kanya Mahavidyalaya |
| 1:30 pm | Lunch at Aangan, BrijRama Palace |
| 11:00 am | Tulsi Residence
Tulsidas bhajans sung at the poet's house |
| 5:30 pm | VIP Ganga Pujan and Aarti
Reserved access at Dashaswamedh Ghat |

Kashi Union

Kashi Vishwanath

Sparsh Darshan means you touch the jyotirlinga yourself, guided by a rishi, where the general queue stops at a barrier and a glimpse. It comes on the last full evening, after a morning on the water and an e-rickshaw circuit through the city, and it is the point the whole arc has been walking toward.

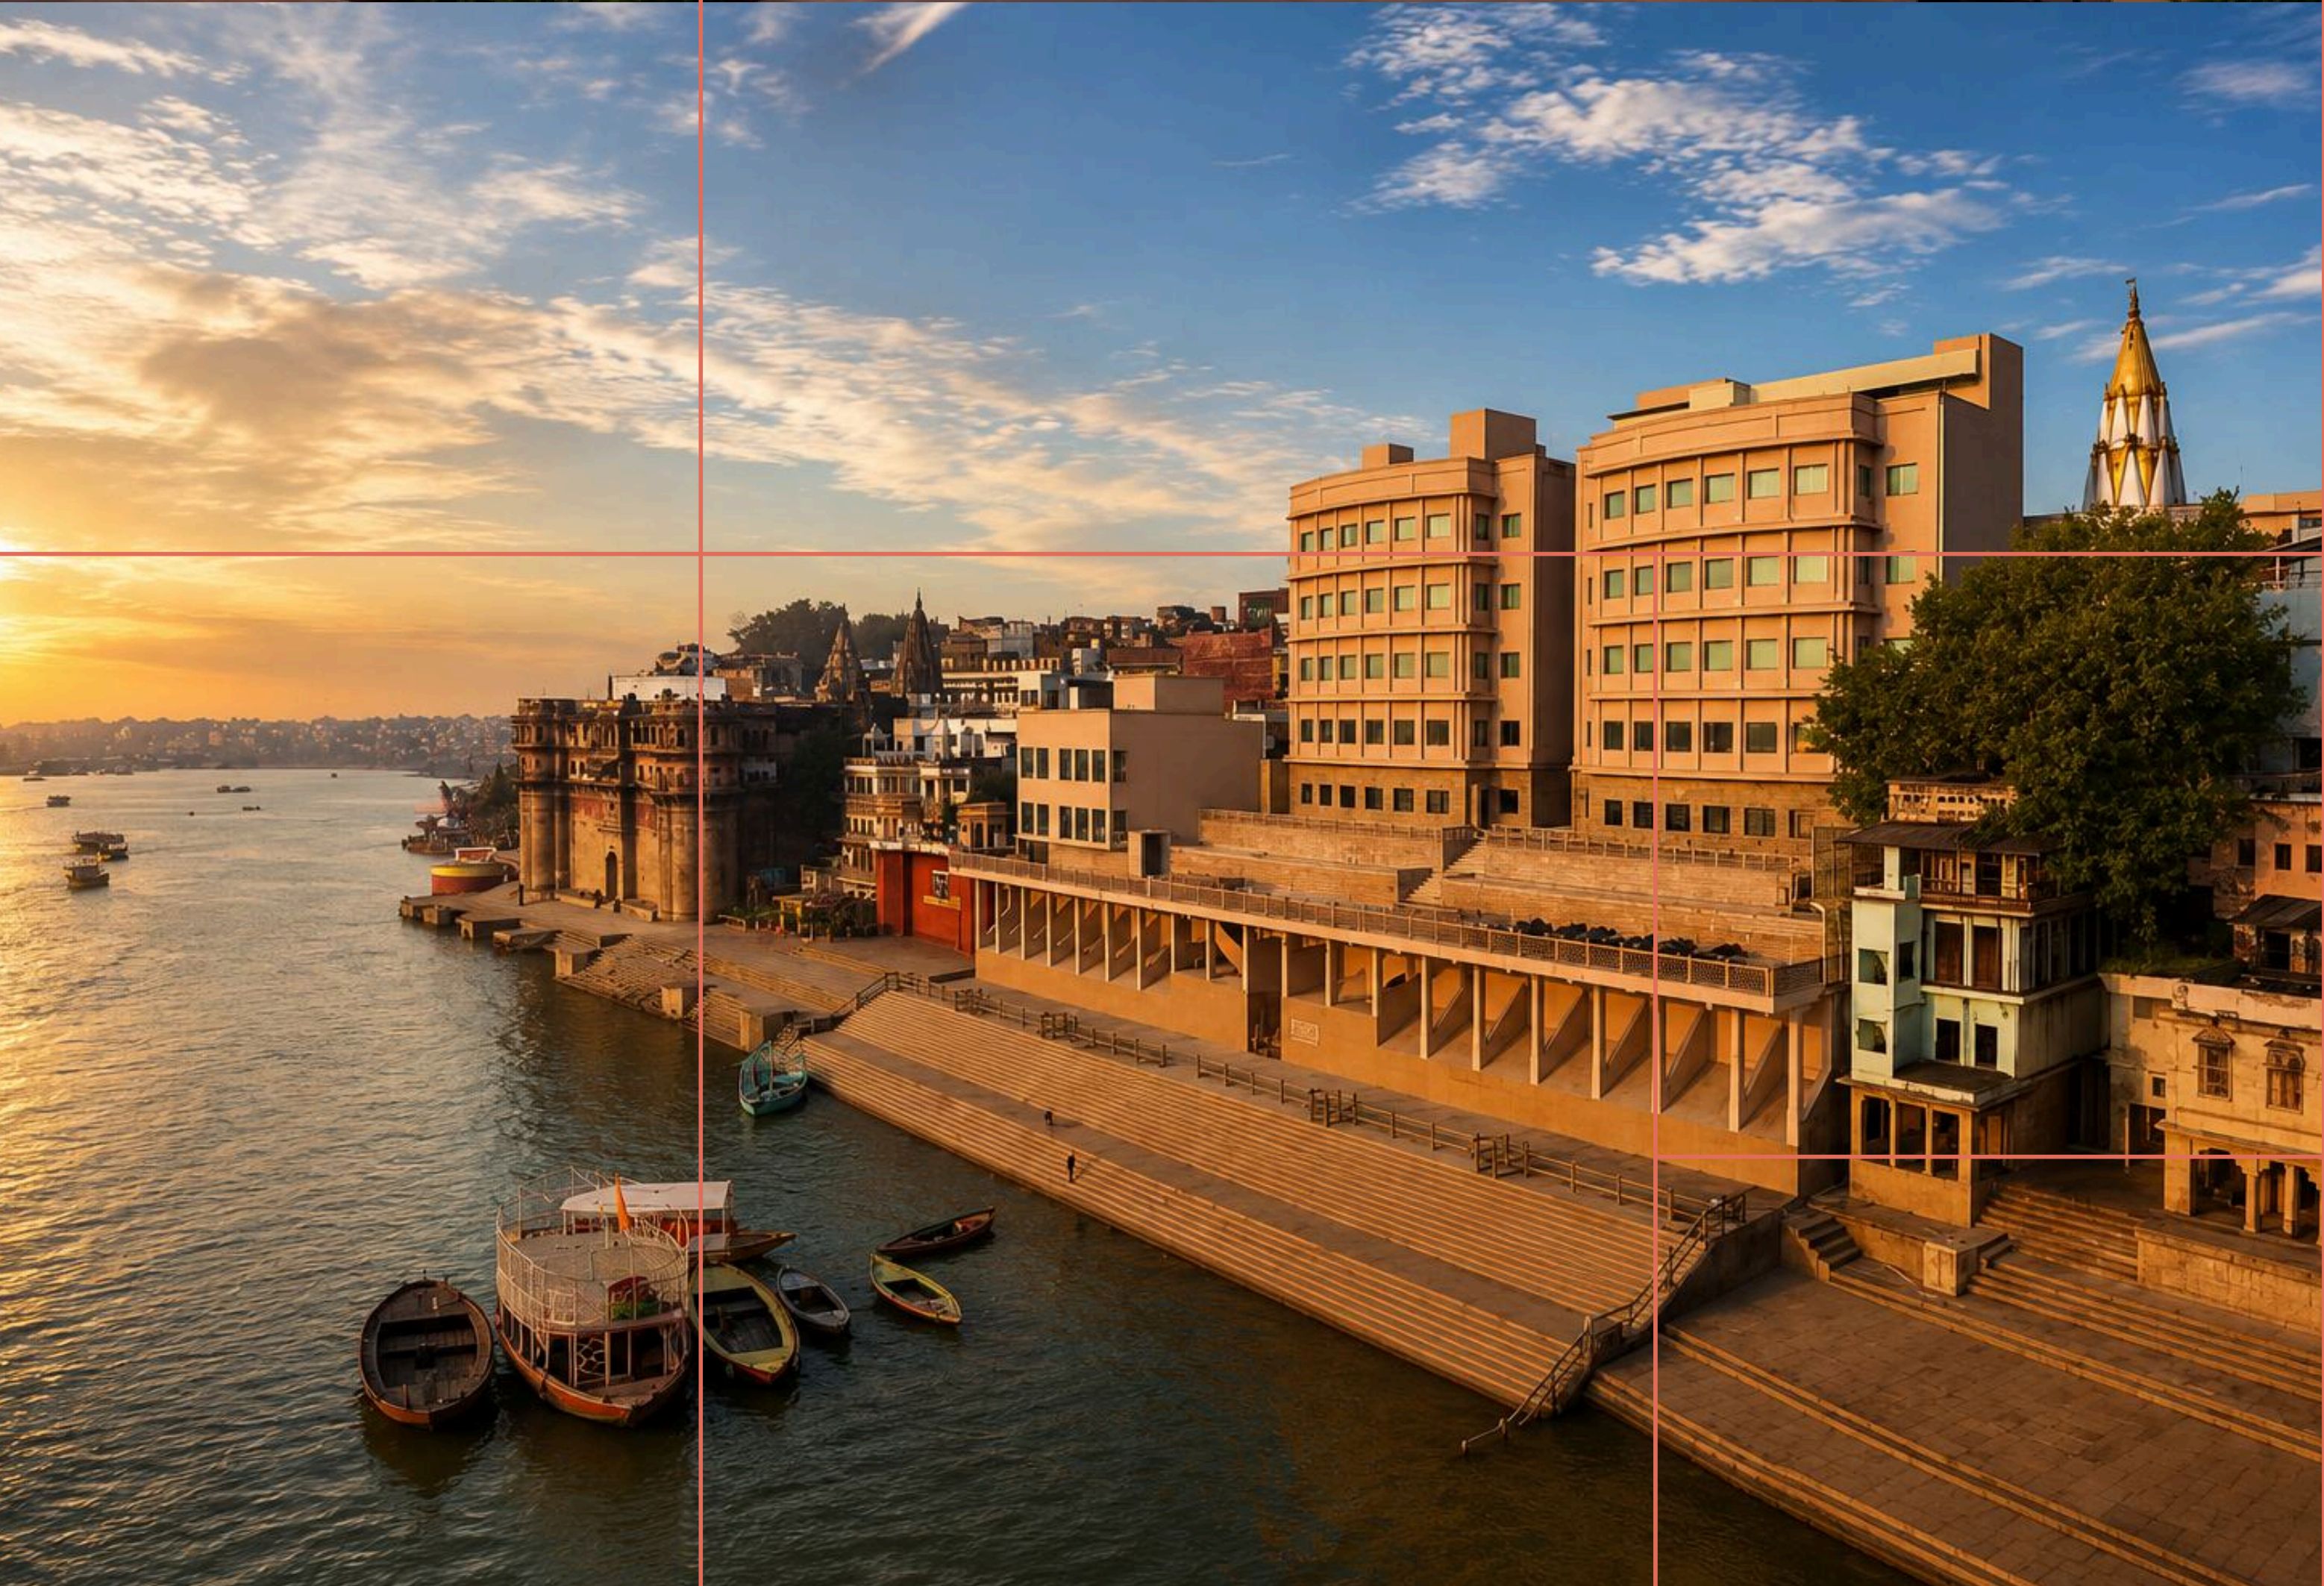

- | | |
| 10:00 am | Boat to Assi Ghat
From the property ghat |
| 11:00 am | E-rickshaw Circuit
Sankat Mochan Temple and Durga Kund |
| 5:00 pm | Kashi Vishwanath
Sparsh Darshan at the jyotirlinga |
| 8:30 pm | Special closing dinner
At Bhartendu Bhavan |
