

Sunday 27 September 2026

Seventeenth Sunday after Trinity

Sung Eucharist · 10:00 am

|                |                                                                                                                     |
|----------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| ENTRANCE HYMN  | Praise to the Holiest in the height                                                                                 |
| FIRST READING  | Ezekiel 18:1–4, 25–32                                                                                               |
| PSALM          | Psalms 25:1–9                                                                                                       |
| SECOND READING | Philippians 2:1–13                                                                                                  |
| GOSPEL         | Matthew 21:23–32                                                                                                    |
| OFFERTORY HYMN | Let all mortal flesh keep silence                                                                                   |
| COMMUNION      | All baptised Christians are welcome to receive.Anyone else is warmly invited to come forwardfor a blessing. |
| FINAL HYMN     | Now thank we all our God                                                                                            |

PRAYER FOR THE WEEK

Gracious God, give us the humility of Christ, who did not grasp at power but knelt to serve; that our words and our deeds may agree, and our lives say yes to you. Amen.

Morning tea follows in the parish hall. Everyone is welcome.

Sample service sheet from the Vespers template. Replace it with your own each week.